Intro to Web Development

My redesign was based on the website Craigslist. I wanted to modernize Craigslist while keeping it familiar it to old time users. I decided to keep the same color scheme and the same font as Craigslist. In order to modernize it I grouped up the separate topics in tabs to give it better organization and make it easier to view. This design is better because it makes it users new to the website an easier method of navigating through the ads while maintaining its old user base with the same classic look.
